Repeat business from existing clients is the strongest indicator of the value provided by a law firm. This principle has driven the lawyers of Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote, P.C. for 110 years and manifested itself with the opening of our Los Angeles office in July of 2016. Set in the suburb of Glendale, the office was established in response to growing demand from existing clients served in one or more of Dickie McCamey's other offices.

The focus of the nationally-recognized attorneys in our California office is on Medicare Compliance, workers' compensation, and insurance law and litigation. This office is supported by the comprehensive resources of over 190 attorneys located in states throughout the mid-Atlantic region.

Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote's commitment to value is nothing new. Our sustained success is a direct result of a culture of client service with the goal of a long-term client relationship. As the demand for value has increased, our firm has experienced unprecedented organic growth. Our clients receive legal services that help them achieve their goals.

Our commitment to partnering with you is not a gimmick. Our purpose is to help our clients prevent and manage the risks specific to their business. We are here for our clients – to help them avoid unnecessary conflict when and where the situation demands it.
