DMC's Steubenville office provides local counsel to corporations, government, and individuals for a variety of legal matters in Ohio. We have practiced law before the local and district courts in the region for many years and are very familiar with the case law specific to the region, as well as case law most critical to the corporate, insurance, health care, medical malpractice, construction, employment and labor law, and workers' compensation legal fields. At DMC Steubenville, our clients include insurance companies, businesses, corporations, industrial facilities, real estate developers, healthcare providers, government entities, transportation companies, and individuals. DMC Steubenville also provides civil, criminal, and appellate services.

DMC Steubenville's attorneys are native to the Steubenville area, continue to reside in the area with their families, and are involved in their communities. DMC has first-hand knowledge of the area both in the legal profession and the community. With strong ties to the area, DMC is able to provide representation and guidance to its clients to avoid unnecessary conflict when feasible, while providing aggressive action when and where the situation demands it. With a long history of maintaining a positive reputation in the area, DMC is proud to continue serving the Steubenville area.
