Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote opened its Wheeling office to better serve the needs of the Ohio River Valley as well as the state of West Virginia and provides legal representation throughout the state on numerous areas of the law. DMC Wheeling is particularly focused on meeting the challenges specific to the practice of law in West Virginia, and its attorneys have experience practicing throughout the state in both state and federal courts.

We have experience handling matters for a broad range of local, regional, and national businesses and organizations in various industries including manufacturing, consumer goods, health care, and insurance. Our lawyers stay current with the ever-changing legal landscape unique to West Virginia and are able to advise clients of areas that may impact their business. Throughout the firm we have more than 35 lawyers admitted to practice in West Virginia, and almost half of them have been handling matters specific to West Virginia law for over 25 years. The West Virginia office is able to draw on the comprehensive resources of Dickie McCamey's main office in Pittsburgh as well as the firm's many other offices.

The Wheeling office is staffed by a growing number of full-time attorneys with an expanding support staff to assist them in their various fields of practice. The majority of DMC's Wheeling attorneys were born and raised throughout various parts of the state and have practiced throughout the state for many years. Accordingly, our Wheeling office is able to provide unique insights to matters statewide based on each of their life experiences.
